SYNOPSIS

A young man, Casey, is woken up by a phone call from a girl he doesn't remember. She tells him some unpleasant news that become even more unpleasant when they pay doctor Dr. Marco a visit. Casey struggles to make sense of a situation he has gotten himself into while Michelle doesn't leave anything up to chance.

ABOUT THE FILMMAKER

(Writer, Director, Producer, Editor)

MARKO GRUJIC was born in Zajecar, a small town in eastern Serbia. At an early age, Marko showed interest in arts. He studied classical piano at Stevan Stevanovic Mokranjac music school in a class of Alexei Molcanov. In 2001, he moved to United States with his parents. While in high school, Marko discovered a passion for filmmaking and became a part of Gallery 37. He studied film directing and theater at Columbia College Chicago and already has a few short and documentary films under his belt. His theater entrenched style is accompanied by bold visual storytelling.

CAST BIOGRAPHIES

(Casey)

AARON DALLA VILLA is an ambitious, professional dancer, choreographer, actor, model, singer, and director based in the New York City area. He has performed as a principal dancer with Minnesota Ballet Theatre, and as a soloist with Nashville Ballet, Elements Contemporary Ballet, Chicago Dance Crash and Madison Ballet. His films credits include many Columbia College, Northwestern University, and DePaul University short films, a non-union and a SAG feature film. He just finished a successful run as the Magical Mr. Mistoffelees in Beef and Boards Dinner Theatre production of CATS; as a result, he is now an Equity Membership Candidate (EMC). His voice was a force to be reckoned with when he was selected to be one of the TOP 40 male singers, out of hundreds of thousands of applicants, flown to LA for Oxygen Network's The Glee Project: Season 2. His edgy look and sound landed him a featured role in the 2013 LA film festival selection of Nine Lives: A Musical Web Series, created and produced by Chicago's own Michael Edward Gibson.
