Quote:

"Demons' is by far the best short film I have ever seen to date and will probably remain the best til the day I die."

- Lorraine Klein, Mother of prolific director Jesse Klein

Logline:

A gay serial killer is on the hunt for love and acceptance in a pretty messed up world.

The Story

"Demons" is a short dark comedy about a gay serial killer, Matt, who lives in a world where killing, cannibalism, republicanism and a multitude of inner demons are pretty much accepted and even encouraged, but being gay is still considered kinda lame. Whenever a guy gets too close to Joe, Joe, still afraid to be himself, kills him... maybe Adam can change that.

Director's Statement

By providing a sarcastic, exaggerated portrait of our own world, this film aims to illustrate and give an insight into how the LGBTQ community struggle feels.

"Demons" is a sneering critique towards all LGBTQ protesters who should be instead worrying about more serious and dangerous issues/people in our society rather than one's sexual orientation.
