FilmL.A. Supports Local Film Organizations

Posted by: FilmL.A. Tags: events, HollyShorts Film Festival, New Filmmakers Los Angeles Posted date: August 31, 2011 | No comment

FilmL.A. is proud to support two local organizations that serve and are comprised of filmmakers that call L.A. home: New Filmmakers Los Angeles \(NFLA\) and the HollyShorts Film Festival.

NFLA considers itself "an organization designed to show off innovative works by emerging filmmakers from around the world, providing the Los Angeles community of entertainment professionals and film goers with a constant surge of monthly screening events". It also offers a forum where filmmakers can be recognized for their contributions and network with industry professionals to discuss projects and seek insight on all aspects of filmmaking – from production to distribution to acquisition and representation.
