

Noah Gilbert: Director

NOAH GILBERT is a filmmaker from Toronto, Canada. After graduating from Los Angeles-based California Institute of the Arts (CalArts), he relocated to New York City to work for the New York Times. After two years, Noah moved back to Los Angeles and started a boutique film production company, Alto Nido Films. Noah has directed several short films, commercials, music videos and a feature-length documentary. He is currently in the process of financing his first feature film.

Seth Gilbert: Writer

SETH GILBERT was born in Toronto, Canada. After graduating from Middlebury College in Vermont, he relocated to Los Angeles to work as Gore Vidal's executive writing assistant. He has written several short and full-length plays and screenplays. His penultimate feature-length screenplay, The Lion's Advantage, is circulating and his third play, Spilt Milk, is to be directed by David Ivers and produced regionally later this year. Seth has spent the last two years working as a writer on a number of films and his latest screenplay, a biopic about Albert Einstein, is in pre-production.