Two Women

SHORT FILM | DRAMA | COLOR | 15 MIN

Two Women is a story about emotions and the limits between love and friendship. How far does friendship go and where does love begin.

In a messy room, a slap causes a woman to hit the floor. The attacker seems beside herself, enraged and in tears. The reason these two women, apparently old friends, have arrived at this state, is not immediately revealed. We are quickly transported to another period of time, the 70's: violence, repression, dictatorship, the hippie generation, counter culture. We rediscover these two women, now as friends, in a movie theater. The background for a puzzle has been set, we begin to understand whom these characters are and what they are capable of doing, where present, past and illusion interweave, confound.

Marcelo Brennand has a degree in Film from the New York Film Academy. Developed projects such as the award-winning feature-length documentary Brazil politics unveiled (2008), being the author, director, screenwriter and producer. In his trajectory through the world of visual arts, he won awards for Best Feature Film at the Mostra de Cinema de Pernambuco and received important nominations in the Mostra Internacional de Cinema de São Paulo, Mostra Internacional de Cinema do Rio de Janeiro, Guarnicê Film Festival and Florianópolis Audiovisual Mercosul.
