LOGLINE

Overweight and nearing forty, Amanda must navigate an encounter with an ex she still desires.

SYNOPSIS

Freshly divorced, new to L.A., overweight, and nearing forty, Amanda enjoys a day at the beach, working her way through a six-pack. Along comes her college ex, Ron, out for a run on the very same beach. It's been twenty years - and fifty pounds - since she last saw him. Could there still be a spark?

CREATIVE TEAM

KELLY DIAZ, WRITER & DIRECTOR

Kelly Diaz's passion for crafting images and visual storytelling has always driven her career path - first as a fine artist, then as a graphic designer, visual merchandiser, art teacher, and production designer. Kelly has designed and assisted on short films, features, commercials, music videos, and print work - and she always looks forward to creating new work, now as a director and cinematographer. Kelly recently completed her MFA in Cinematography at UCLA, where she was awarded the 2020 MPAA Award for Directing. She lives in Albuquerque, New Mexico and teaches film at Central New Mexico Community College.

JACOBO APARICIO, PRODUCER

Jacobo Aparicio works at Anonymous Content (Spotlight, The Revenant, Eternal Sunshine of the Spotless Mind, True Detective, Mr. Robot, 13 Reasons Why, Homecoming, Et al.), focusing on producing and development, mainly for international TV and films. A graduate of the UCLA Producers Program, he has previously worked as the International TV Coordinator at the literary management firm SGE and at Warner Bros. in Spain.
