LOGLINE

On their way to enjoy one of their last few days as teenagers, a group of high school seniors are up for a surprise when they confront a police officer and madness breaks out at the beach.

SYNOPSIS

Dev, a senior, refuses to enjoy the senior activities in high school. When the opportunity to go to the beach is presented to him thanks to his cousin Kevin. It offers him a chance to do something he has never done before, not listen to his mother. With a bit of convincing Dev decides to go with the plan. This invites a girl he had a past with, Hope and a friend he's never spent time with outside of school, Mira. Throughout this journey, these 4 seniors become friends, this is basically their origin story. A start to friendship they didn't see coming on this random day.

DIRECTOR'S STATEMENT

This is my third short film. I want this film to make you talk and connect with people again. Spark the interest of hitting up an old friend or even make you reminisce about a sort of past life. I think if it makes people have conversations, bond and it creates moments where people reflect and remember, then I'll be satisfied.
