

There's a Devil Inside Me

|                                         |                                                          |
|-----------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------|
| Original Title(English and Spanish) | There's a Devil Inside MeHay Una Diabla Dentro de Mí |
| Language                                | English                                                  |
| Year                                    | 2025                                                     |
| Country                                 | USA                                                      |
| Duration                                | 15:30                                                    |
| Director                                | Karina Lomelin Ripper                                    |
| Writers                                 | Karina Lomelin Ripper, Marc Ripper                       |
| Cinematographer                         | Sarah Whelden                                            |
| Music                                   | Mel Guérison                                             |
| Sound                                   | Jordan Eusebio                                           |
| Production Designer                     | Marian Wood                                              |
| Editor                                  | Marc Ripper                                              |
| Producers                               | Fran Bittakis, Martina Silcock,Mon Castro            |

Logline

After a Catholic confirmation class, a devilish teen pretends to be a nun but things go sideways when she's mistaken for a real one.

Synopsis

Teresa, a devilish teen, is going through her Catholic confirmation. She's struggling with what it means to be controlled by God. After class, she gets up to some mischief. Snooping around she finds a nun habit and puts it on. Only shortly after donning this costume she's mistaken to be a real nun. Teresa flees, using her mom as her unwitting getaway driver with her little sister in tow in the back seat. The drive home is chaos. Involving a wrestling match over a bag of fries that turns bloody. In the end, Teresa opts for an act that is neither good nor evil but embraces her desires for pleasure, power and mischief.

Casting Director - Salvatore Schiavone

Teresa - Krystal Garcia

Sophia - Jazmene Valenzuela

Gabriela - Vanessa Gonzalez

Karina Lomelin Ripper

Director's Bio

Karina Lomelin Ripper is a Mexican-American writer and director whose films focus on the rebels and misfits. She was in the AFI DWW+ class of 2025, is a 2025 Princess Grace Honoraria recipient and a fellow of the 2024 Hola Mexico's: Tomorrow's Filmmakers Today. Her films have received awards, been a Vimeo Staff Pick, premiered on PBS and No Budge and screened at festivals all over the globe.

